DIES ProGRANT in Myanmar: Practical-oriented Training for New Researchers

On behalf of the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) the DIES ProGRANT Co-ordination Centre at the University of Cologne and a local partner are organizing the training course:

“ProGRANT Proposal Writing for Research Grants: Practical-oriented Trainings for New Researchers”

Application Period: September 15th - November 4th, 2016

Seminar I: March 6th - 10th 2017, Myanmar

E-Learning Module: March - June 2017

Seminar II: October 2nd - 6th 2017, Myanmar

Course Description

The course is part of the DIES (Dialogue on Innovative Higher Education Strategies) programme of the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) and the German Rectors' Conference (HRK). The aim of DIES ProGRANT is to train researchers and young PhD holders in developing a promising proposal for national or international research funding (every participant will have the opportunity to tailor their application to the funding institution of their choice). Researchers from all disciplines can apply for this course. Each group will consist of 30 participants from the region. DIES ProGRANT is also an effective tool for promoting international research and relationships.

Learning Approach

Using a blended learning approach, DIES ProGRANT is structured in three sections:
Two on-site seminars (Seminar I and Seminar II) and a trainer guided E-Learning section.

SEMINAR I

Train basic technical skills

E-LEARNING

Further develop research proposal at home institution

SEMINAR II

Complete proposal

Seminar I (March 6th–10th, 2017, Myanmar)

Seminar I will provide basic knowledge and basic technical skills that are needed to design, write and budget a potentially successful proposal (e.g. to transform an abstract research idea into a proposal) on the basis of lectures, group work and exercises. Attendance and active participation from 9:00 am to 6:00 pm is required.

E-Learning Module — (March–June 2017)

Primary objective of E-Learning is to enable the participants to submit a 10 page draft of their proposal. During the E-Learning section the participants will work on their proposal (including creation of a working plan and a budget plan) at their home institution and further develop it under the guidance and online counseling of the trainer team. Eleven online chapters for self-study will be offered. Each chapter includes additional learning material and exercises. This content is specifically designed to help turn theoretical knowledge into practical skills that will help develop a successful proposal. Additionally, personalized online support will be offered to all participants. This includes a virtual classroom for meetings and discussing with coursemates and trainers. Participants should budget three hours per week in order to optimize use of the E-Learning module (submission by April 25th, 2017).

Seminar II (October 2nd–6th, 2017, Myanmar)

During the second seminar, the proposal drafts will be presented, discussed, evaluated and fine-tuned in a participative review process. The objective of this seminar is to engage in a collaborative feedback process between trainers and participants and ultimately develop a final draft. At the end of Seminar II, the research funding proposals should be ready for submission to research funding organizations. Attendance and active participation from 9:00 am to 6:00 pm is required.

Participant Profile

Potential participants are researchers and PhD-holders from Myanmar.

Selection criteria are that participants:

- Must hold a doctoral degree or have equivalent research experience
- Have an affiliation to an academic institution in the above mentioned country
- Possess excellent English language skills, both written and spoken
- Be preferably at the beginning or middle stages of their research career.

Trainer Profile

The trainer teams consist of ProGRANT trainers and international experts. The ProGRANT trainers will share knowledge on important principles of grant writing that are independent of a certain disciplinary field and on fundamental structural elements that are required by most of the international funding organizations. International experts from Germany and the region will provide grant writing knowledge from the perspective of their scientific disciplines and from a regional perspective.

Partner Profiles

The University of Cologne: The University of Cologne (UoC) combines innovation with tradition in its research and teaching since its foundation in 1388, which establishes its academic excellence as one of the best-known German universities. In 2012 UoC was distinguished as German University of Excellence.

The University of Yangon: University of Yangon is the oldest university in Myanmar. The university offers both undergraduate and postgraduate degrees as well as programmes in both the natural and social sciences. International students from Japan, Korea, China, Thailand, Germany, among other, study at the University of Yangon. Since 2011, the number of international institutions and universities collaborating in the areas of faculty and student exchange and joint research has been gradually increasing.

University of Mandalay: The University of Mandalay is the second oldest university in Myanmar. It was the first and is now the largest university in Upper Myanmar. With the core value of contribution to the needs of local community, the University of Mandalay always tries to meet the vision for the emergence of leading national research university.

proWiss (Consulting Services for Researchers): proWiss Consulting Services assist individual researchers and institutions of the higher education sector to develop and enhance research activities and to improve the efficiency of the institutions' researchers, faculty members, staff, and administrators.

Funding

The costs for this training course will be mainly covered by funds from the DAAD provided by the German Federal Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development (BMZ). The following expenses will be covered:

- Course expenses (expert-honoraria, infrastructure, organization, material): approx. 1.250 € p.P.
- Travel to and from the course venue up to a pre-defined maximum rate. Travel arrangements will be organized for you.
- Accommodation and meals during the two 5-day seminar modules in Myanmar (according to DAAD regulations).

Expected co-funding: Participants and/or their home institutions are expected to cover local transportation in Myanmar (for example: taxi to airport), visa costs (if applicable) and possible additional per diems for the stay in Myanmar. Health insurance and other additional costs will be covered by participants and/or their home institutions. Bringing a personal laptop to Seminar I and II is not required but highly encouraged.

Application Requirements and Process

Applications can be submitted on our webpage at <http://proposalwriting.globalsouth.uni-koeln.de>

Following the link under "Information for Applicants" you will find the Online Application Form, which will be available beginning on September 15th, 2016. Please fill out all fields and upload all other application requirements (as mentioned below) on that form.

Exposé

We request that you submit a 2-page exposé (approximately 5.000 characters) outlining your intended research project. This exposé should include the following sections and information:

1) Title Page: Applicant name, disciplinary area of the proposal, and title of the project (approximately 100 characters)

2) Introduction of scientific background: Please introduce your research idea: Based on pertinent literature, please briefly demonstrate that there is a research gap and a need for this gap to be filled.

3) Aim of the project: Please state the aim of your intended research. Tell us about the innovative potential of your project.

4) Approach: Briefly describe the procedure- e.g. the methods you are going to apply in order to achieve the aim of your project.

5) Relevance: Briefly state the expected results, explain the relevance your project might have for scientific and, if applicable, non-scientific stakeholders.

In case you already know, please indicate the funding agency you want to apply to.

Academic CV

Please provide a brief 1-page resumé of your academic career.

Letter of Support

We ask that you submit a 1-page Letter of Support from the University you are affiliated with.

Your home institution should provide information about your relationship to, and functions at the University, and express support in you participating in the DIES ProGRANT course.

File Format

Please title all pdfs according to the following example:

“familyname_firstname_expose”

“familyname_firstname_CV”

DEADLINE FOR APPLICATIONS IS NOVEMBER 4TH 2016, 11:00 PM GERMAN TIME.

30 participants will be selected according to the quality of their exposé and also based on institutional profiles. Applicants will be given a final decision by the end of the year 2016.
